

I have heard how children without internet at home struggle to keep up with their peers. Allow us to provide internet access through the schools from day one to help level the playing field as children move through the grades into college and the work years beyond.